

August 2022

Over the course of the last two months, I had the distinct pleasure of meeting and hearing from teachers, support staff, administrators, students, and community members across Nashua. These conversations focused on the shared values, beliefs, and traditions of our school district as well as our strengths and untapped resources. The results of these meetings far exceeded my expectations. As people talked about the many positive attributes, including our inspirational educators, devoted support staff, dedicated administrators, ambitious students, and willing community partners, smiles grew across
